Personal Emergency Response System

from

Introducing the most affordable, in-home, personal emergency response system in Western New York!

Peace of Mind is a two part, in-home Personal Emergency Response System (PERS) for men and women that provides personal protection in an emergency. A small, wireless transmitter is worn on an attractive necklace or wristband. When help is needed, the wearer simply presses the button that transmits a signal to the Peace of Mind receiver.

The receiver then dials a professionally monitored help station that is connected through the wearer's phone line. The service is operated 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, so help is ALWAYS in reach.

The VOICE-TO-VOICE receiver sends a signal to a professional at the help center who responds back through a speaker. The help center attendant then provides immediate suggestions for handling the emergency in addition to mobilizing emergency personnel and/or contacting designated family and friends if needed.

How does the monitoring station know who to call?

A Palliative Home Care of Niagara representative will provide forms indicating who should be called first, the local number of the police, and names of other people to be notified in case of emergency. The monitoring station then enters this information in its computers that remain on line, ready whenever a caller needs help.

In the event of a power failure, a back-up battery keeps the system functioning for up to 12 hours. To maintain Peace of Mind, simply test the unit every 30 to 60 days. Peace of Mind is even waterproof, so the wearable, wireless button can be worn in a water environment and continue to work.

An affordable Peace of Mind.

For elderly, frail or health-challenged individuals, Peace of Mind is a lifeline that provides a heightened feeling of independence, and confidence to family members that loved ones can get help fast. In emergencies such as falls, chest pains, fear of an intruder, or countless other concerns, the wearer simply presses a button and help is available within seconds.
